

Victorian Studies Network at York • 7th Annual Symposium

NEW HORIZONS IN VICTORIAN STUDIES

Friday, 24 October 2014, 10 am to 3 pm
Stong 101 (Stong Master's Dining Room)

Faculty and graduate students from all departments are invited to attend. The cross-disciplinary scope of the program – Victorian engagements with science, literature, theatre, urban planning, and popular culture – is especially inviting.

The Victorian Studies Network at York has been established to connect researchers and enhance connections among faculty and graduate students; to facilitate interdepartmental and interdisciplinary work; to enrich our personal and collective experience of research in the field; and to showcase York as a centre of excellence for Victorian studies.

KATHARINE ANDERSON

“Voyages; or, Disraeli and a Colonial Experiment with Satires of Knowledge”

DAVID LATHAM

“Pater Patter: Editing The Collected Works
of Walter Pater”

BERNARD LIGHTMAN AND JAMES ELWICK

“The John Tyndall Correspondence Project:
Publishing the Letters of an Eminent Victorian Scientist”

TANYA PIKULA

“Deviance on the Peripheries: Suburbia and Masculinity
in Victorian Gothic-Detective Stories”

MARLIS SCHWEITZER

“Tom Thumb’s Table: Performances of Scale.”

JONATHAN VANDOR

“From Riches to Résumés: Justifying Social Mobility in Victorian Realist Novels.”

ALL ARE WELCOME. LUNCH IS PROVIDED.

RSVP: Tina Choi, Department of English, tinayc@yorku.ca