NEWS NOTES.

Col. Sobieski spoke to a large audience at the corner of Sixth and Hill streets last night. Transfers of real estate yesterday amounted to $487,553, and were 109 in number. Of these 57 were for more than $1,000 each, and 20 were for nominal considerations.

The Burbank Methodist Episcopal church will be dedicated this morning at 11 o'clock. The Rev. E. Thompson, D. D., L. L. D., will deliver the dedicatory sermon. A cordial invitation is extended to all. He was struck by a sharp rock on the head and was burned in several places.

AMUSEMENTS.

Fanny Davenport in "Fedora" Tomorrow Night. The celebrated Fanny Davenport will open at the Grand Opera House tomorrow night in Victorien Sardou's "Fedora," in which she has made such a success elsewhere. The opening sale for this piece is very large and there will probably be no vacant seats in the house. On Thursday evening she will play "La Tosca," in which she is also said to be great.

Academy of Music. To-night the Pavilion will be occupied by Miss Lizzie Evans in "Foggy Ferry," which is said to be very interesting. On Wednesday and Thursday she will play "Our Angel" and for the balance of the week "Maud Muller." The great panorama is attracting a large number of visitors. Scarcely a visitor to the city from the interior or East but is taken there and given a chance to see the life picture.

The Japanese village and the minstrels at this place of amusement proved good drawing cards yesterday. Fanny Davenport in "Fedora." The judgment and good taste displayed by Manager Wyatt, in securing for his newly renovated and handsomely appointed Opera House, for six nights and Saturday matinee such stellar attraction as Miss Fanny Davenport, has made itself apparent from the exceedingly large advance sale of seats. Miss Davenport will make her first appearance, before an audience of this city to-morrow evening in Sardou's "Fedora," which will be presented until Thursday evening, when it will be succeeded by her latest success "La Tosca." Although Miss Davenport has never as yet appeared in Southern California, her name and fame as an actress of the highest rank is well known. From all that is said, all the genius of her lamented father, E. L. Davenport seems to have fallen as a mantle about the shoulders of his talented and famous daughter, and that she wears his bequest bravely and well has been proven by the unanimous voice and acclaim of the press and public of America and England. Miss Davenport has from her earliest infancy been schooled to the severest and highest lines of classic art. In Sardou's great play, "Fedora," she stands without a peer; and it may be repeated here, although it is a well-known fact, that she is the only actress on the American stage to whom the celebrated French author would sell the right to produce the work in this country. In compliment of this nature, coming from such a high source of dramatic authority, is in itself sufficient to make the name and fame of almost any actress, and Miss Davenport has not only verified Sardou's confidence in her to give an artistic portrayal of his inspiration, but has reached an altitude of greatness in her delineation of the character which has surprised and delighted even her warmest friends and admirers. It is not more than a year back since she and the great Bernhardt were at the same time playing in New York theatres in the character of "Fedora." "Donnagon" received and accepted an invitation to come and attend a professional matinee and witness her impersonation of the part. Bernhardt accepted the invitation and went away delighted with the performance, giving unstinted praise to her American rival.

La Tosca, which will succeed "Fedora" on Thursday evening, is Sardou's latest work. This is the play about which so much has been written in the American and European press. Miss Davenport will arrive here to-morrow morning from San Francisco, where she has just completed one of the most successful engagements of the year at the Baldwin Theater. As "Fedora" she will wear five different Worth dresses and in the ball-room scene wear the famous $30,000 diamond necklace. The sale of seats is unusually large and the engagement promises to be the most brilliant of the season.

Browned While Bathing. About five o'clock yesterday afternoon a HERALD reporter, hearing of a death by drowning in the Bonnie Brae tract, went out to investigate. On arrival at the lake at the foot of Seventh street a small group was observed standing around the body of little George Frolick, a boy some ten years of age, who came to his death by being accidentally drowned whilst bathing. From the evidence of his companion, another ten year old boy named Charlie Lyons, it appears that Frolick had taken off his clothes, waded out in the shallow water at the edge of the lake to a distance of about fifty feet, when he suddenly disappeared, and though he came to the surface several times his juvenile companions were unable to render him any assistance. After he had been in the water some time Lyons picked up his friend's clothes and started off to tell the dead boy's parents of their bereavement, but was stopped by some graders who were camped at the foot of Seventh street, after making a few inquiries took him back with them to the lake. At this juncture two men named Geo. Schwaber and Geo. Young came up and stripping themselves dived into the deep hole where the body lay. The former being unsuccessful gave way to Young, who brought the drowned boy to the surface. All efforts to resuscitate him failed, and the Coroner was notified by telephone, and shortly afterwards appeared on the scene. The body was then placed in a coffin and transferred to Orr & Sutch's undertaking parlors, where an inquest was held and a verdict rendered in accordance with the evidence. The boy lived with his parents on Eleventh street, close to Hill, and they were heart-broken on learning of their boy's sad death. He had frequently been warned not to bathe in the lake.

The Supervisors. The Supervisors met yesterday and instructed the County Clerk to advertise for bids for taking a windmill down at the County Hospital and replacing it at the Poor Farm.

The Fairview school district was annexed to the Anaheim district, there being 235 signatures for the annexation and only 18 against.

A protest was received from C. B. Richardson against the action of the Committee on Constables in not giving him a chance to prove the charges brought by him against the constables.

To Wed. The following were yesterday licensed to wed: J. Harry Whomes and Lula A. Gilmore, of Los Angeles. Geo. Wm. Schenck and Mrs. K. McIntosh, of Los Angeles. Wm. Weber and Louisa King, of San Bernardino. Maurice H. Goldstein and Rebecca J. Goldman, of Los Angeles.

A LUCKY TRIAL. DEAR SEN: It affords me great pleasure to send you this voluntary statement of my experience in using the merits of Joy's Sarsaparilla. For the past five years I have been troubled with a most exceedingly sluggish liver, and within the two years it has brought within its trail a thoroughly disordered stomach, including loss of appetite and distress after eating, pains in the back and kidneys, and boils around my neck and face. I have tried several remedies which are advertised as specially for the liver, and never could get more than temporary relief of about a week or two. I became convinced of its merits for I could feel it became changed in me. I bought a bottle of Sarsaparilla as a test, and while taking the first bottle I was working a change in me. I bought five bottles, and during that time my troubles have left me. Everything is working full and regular. My blood is clean, purified and healthy. In fact it has given me a new man. You are perfectly free to use this as you see fit, or you can refer whom you please to me.

The Stage of Paris. The great panorama is attracting a large number of visitors. Scarcely a visitor to the city from the interior or East but is taken there and given a chance to see the life picture.
