

Theatrical, Musical, &c.

BROADWAY THEATRE.—To-night we are promised a grand series of acrobatic and equestrian feats, the tricks of the sagacious elephant, a view of the lion and tigers, and the novel fairy spectacle of "Cinderella, or the Little Glass Slipper."

NIBLO'S GARDEN.—Dan Rice, the renowned jester and conversationist, will for the second time favor the patrons of this popular house with an exhibition of his astonishing animals, including the tame rhinoceros and the low comedy mules.

BOWERY THEATRE.—The favorite dramas of "Reekwood" and the "French Spy," are again on the bills for this evening. Messrs. Clarke, Aymar and Lenno, Miss Ludlow and Mrs. Jordan play in the first piece, and Miss Eallie St. Clair enacts the heroine in the other.

BURTON'S.—Messrs. Mathews and Brougham, Mrs. Davenport and Mrs. Parker will appear in "A Bachelor's Wife;" Mr. Burton plays his famous character of Guy Goodluck in "John Jones," and the whole closes with Brougham's burlesque, "Columbus."

WALLACK'S.—The crowded assemblages who nightly bestow their applause upon the * Club's drama, entitled the "Poor of New York," render it proper for the management to keep it on the bills to the exclusion of other novelties that are ready.

LAURA KEENE'S.—Miss Keene and various members of her talented company have of late won the most flattering demonstrations of approbation in the comic drama called the "Muleteer of Toledo," which is to be repeated to-night, with "An Unequal Match."

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The last cheap opera of the season is to be given to-night, when Madame La Grange, and Messrs. Formes, Labocetta, Gassier and Rocco are to appear in the "Barber of Seville." Secure tickets during the day, if possible, and avoid the rush to night.

AMERICAN MUSEUM.—Mr. Watkins' new and exciting dramatic adaptation of the "Pioneer Patriot" is to undergo its second representation this evening. Mrs. C. Howard represents the heroine. The "Queen's Page" will be performed in the afternoon.

NIGRO MINSTRELSY.—The admirers of this description of entertainment are referred to the well-filled programmes of Geo. Christy and Wood, at 561 and 563; the Buckley's, at 444, and the Bryants, at 472—all on Broadway.

CONCERT.—Madame Johnson-Græver, the pianiste, announces a concert, at Dodworth's Saloon, at 2½ o'clock this afternoon. She will be assisted by Miss Milner and Mr. Perring, the popular vocalists, and Messrs. Appy, Bergner, &c.

Theatrical, Musical, &c.

The New York Herald (New York, New York, Tuesday, January 19, 1858; pg. 3. (387 words))

Category: Arts & Entertainment

Gale Document Number:GT3003635253